We may receive limited information from Stripe relating to account status, onboarding status, commission payments and other information necessary to manage participation in The Smart Catalogue and administer commission payments.

5. The Club Madeira Platform

6. How Artificial Intelligence Is Used

The Smart Catalogue uses artificial intelligence to analyse participating websites, identify their likely audience and interests, identify relevant affiliate opportunities and help create and manage product catalogues.

The AI provider currently used by The Smart Catalogue is Grok.

Information Provided to the AI

No personal information held by Club Madeira Ltd about account holders, community members, website visitors or customers is intentionally provided to Grok for the purpose of creating or managing a Smart Catalogue.

The primary input used to begin the catalogue creation process is the participating organisation's website URL.

The website is reviewed to understand its publicly available content, subject matter and likely audience.

Information derived from this review is used alongside market and affiliate opportunity information to identify relevant product categories and catalogue content.

Catalogue Creation and Product Matching

For each catalogue category, The Smart Catalogue creates information including:

- Category and subcategory information
- Descriptions
- Search terms
- Keywords
- Negative keywords used to exclude irrelevant products

Product matches are then identified using product data sources, including participating affiliate networks, marketplaces and merchants such as Awin, eBay and Amazon.

Potential products are checked for relevance against factors including:

- The participating website and its content
- The likely audience and their interests
- Relevant market and affiliate opportunities

- Catalogue categories and subcategories
- Category descriptions and metadata
- Search terms, keywords and negative keywords

This process is used to improve the relevance of the products displayed within each Smart Catalogue.

7. AI Commands and Catalogue Data

When an account holder interacts with The Smart Catalogue AI interface, the last three commands provided through the interface are retained to provide conversational context and allow the AI system to understand and respond appropriately to subsequent instructions.

Account holders should not include personal information, confidential information or information about other individuals when providing instructions through the AI interface.

Generated catalogue data is retained while the account remains active so that The Smart Catalogue can operate, maintain and update the catalogue.

This data may include:

- Website analysis information
- Audience and market information generated from the website review
- Catalogue categories and subcategories
- Category descriptions and metadata
- Search terms
- Keywords and negative keywords
- Product matching and catalogue selection information
- Recent AI commands retained for conversational context

The Smart Catalogue uses retained catalogue data to check for new and relevant products approximately every 48 hours and to maintain and update participating catalogues.

8. Purchases Made Through The Smart Catalogue

The Smart Catalogue displays products supplied by participating merchants and retailers.

When you select a product, you are directed to the website of the relevant merchant or retailer.

Any purchase is completed directly with that merchant.

The merchant is responsible for collecting and processing information required to complete the transaction, including:

- Payment card and payment information
- Billing details
- Delivery addresses
- Customer account information
- Order and transaction information
- Information required to process deliveries, cancellations, returns and refunds

Club Madeira Ltd and The Smart Catalogue do not receive or store customers' payment card details, payment information, billing addresses or delivery addresses relating to purchases completed with merchants.

The merchant processes personal information in accordance with its own privacy policy and legal obligations.

9. Affiliate Tracking and Commission Attribution

Products displayed through The Smart Catalogue may contain affiliate links.

When a visitor follows a product link to a participating merchant, affiliate tracking technologies may be used to record the referral.

If the visitor subsequently completes a qualifying purchase, tracking information allows the sale to be attributed correctly and commission to be calculated and distributed between the relevant partners and participating communities.

Information processed for these purposes may include:

- Referral information
- Click and interaction data
- Transaction references
- Merchant information
- Commission information

- Cookies or similar tracking identifiers

Affiliate tracking is used for the purpose of recording referrals, attributing qualifying purchases, calculating commission and distributing commission correctly.

Club Madeira Ltd does not use information collected through affiliate tracking for unrelated purposes.

The information available to Club Madeira Ltd will depend on the relevant merchant, affiliate network and technology providers involved.

Further information about affiliate tracking is available in our Cookie Policy and Affiliate Disclosure.

We only keep personal information for as long as reasonably necessary for the purposes for which it was collected.

Account information and catalogue data may be retained while an account remains active and for a reasonable period afterwards where necessary for account administration, security, dispute resolution or compliance with legal obligations.

The last three commands provided through The Smart Catalogue AI interface are retained for conversational context and are replaced as new commands are submitted.

15. Deleting Your Account and Catalogue Data

The Smart Catalogue provides a Delete My Account function that allows participating organisations to request the deletion of their account and associated catalogue data.
